

Hello Olist team,

Turning ERP product evolution into clear go-to-market plans directly matches my experience connecting product, operations, data, and commercial teams. At Wipro on the Meta Project, I translated global updates into value propositions, pitches, scripts, playbooks, and training for 150+ professionals. I also supported enablement squad governance through OKRs, roadmap, and backlog and led CRM AI adoption, increasing usage by 150%.

I bring practical experience coordinating stakeholders, structuring documentation and action plans, and using data and feedback to prioritize activation. While I do not claim direct ERP experience, I have a consistent record of learning complex digital products and turning them into actionable messages and frontline tools. I would apply that combination to bring cadence, clarity, and impact to Olist launches.
